

MIĘDZYSZKOLNY KONKURS JĘZYKOWO-FOTOGRAFICZNY „WROCLOVE PHOTO III 2018” PRACE NAGRODZONE I WYRÓŻNIONE

A sunny day and one certain moment captured by the photographer on the Tumski Bridge in Wrocław. In the foreground, there is the bridge with full of colorful love locks pinned to the barriers of it. On each of them there are some initials of lovers. The locks are in different colours so they are conspicuous. In the background, there is a pedestrian zone and some people are walking by. Between old houses are three small solitary trees. Further behind the houses is the Cathedral of St. John the Baptist. To me, this place is full of magic and mystery evoked by the locks that stands for couples and everlasting love between them. Looking at this photo I can nearly feel their expressed emotions that are still brooding over the bridge.

In this picture there is my grandmother's garden. It is not a public place, but for me this is the most mysterious and magical place in the world. When I was younger I read "Secret Garden" of Frances Hodgson Burnett, and my first thought while reading was my grandma's garden. Then I was always imagining that there were fairies and magic animals. Place: ul. Kamienogórska 7, Wrocław

The photo shows the Main Railway Station – the meeting spot of comers and leavers. In the foreground, there is a street island made of soil and grass. In the middle of the photo are people. Some of them are standing and chatting, others seem to be in a hurry and they are just passing by the building. To me the most eye-catching are very modern street lamps. The whole building has been recently renovated and the facade is now in bright yellow and white colour. This is the place where usually ordinary people meet in order to welcome or farewell their guests. This is the place where people usually laugh and cry. This is the place which drag me attention and I just love it.

In this photo we can see a stunning piece of art. It shows how tremendously beautiful history of Wrocław is. It is a magical experience to see banners which were welcoming a lot of people in the past and now they can hang again and look how the modern Wrocław is changing.

I think this place is not only magical, but also with lots of mystery. The photo shows a marvelous construction with a long history - the Old Town Hall. It is a historic monument with a Gothic facade. The street around it seems to be empty but it is not. There are two people standing on the steps and one person is sitting on the bench. The whole building is lighted up by the street lamps. I really enjoy coming there, especially at night. You can literally touch the emotions all around. Throughout the whole day you can see many tourists who appreciate the view, respect the history behind this building and create their own. Even though The Old Town Hall is now being modernized, the walls are still screaming of 'thirteenth century!' and that is just stunning.

For me, the most "magical" place in Wrocław is Ostrow Tumski. It's full of beautiful, antique buildings, both secular and ecclesial. On Ostrow Tumski we can find magic in the vibe of this place. You will understand me, when you have a walk there, especially in the evening.
